Tell us what makes your Dad great:

What makes my dad so special and great. Is he takes. ( TIME ) with you explaining whatever you need to be explained to. The one time that stands out in my mind is when I was four years old. I even have a picture of my mom my dad my sister and I and the fisherman's boat along with a string of fish. You see my dad bought me a brand new fishing pole and I dropped it and stepped on the end of it and broke off the tip and I cried. My dad took my hand and looked at me and said I will buy you another one But you are take care of it and not break it or you will have daddy's hand upon your buttocks. Now my father never spank me but that scared me lol so he bought me a new fishing pole and we went fishing he put the bait on the line and then took me over and set me up and help me Castel out. Well because I feared my dad my dad but you are to take care of it and not break it or you will have daddy's hand upon your buttocks. Now my father never spanked me but that scared me lol so he bought me a new fishing pole and we went fishing he he put the bait on the line and then took me over and set me up and help me Castel out. Well because I feared my Dad in a good way. I was holding onto my fishing rod with deer life my dad looked over and about that time he saw my fishing pole myself going over the edge of the boat I had got a really large fish my dad grabbed my ankles and kept telling me to drop that fishing pole I kept saying no I don't wanna spanking no I don't wanna spanking. So my dad took me and called me and my fishing rod along with my fish I caught the biggest fish. And my dad and mom were also very proud of me.

That's what makes my dad the greatest dad in the world. Have a great day and God bless

My dad is basically what people think of when they think the word dad. He is steady, he is honest, he is loyal, he always chooses himself last. He has taken on 3 grandkids and raised them when he could have retired... but mostly bc he is my dad, and I appreciate all the love he has shown me over the years and im blessed enough to still have him here on this earth with me..

My dad, who didn't have to be a dad, stepped up when I was 11. He made sure we had a roof over our head and food in our belly. As a teenager he always made sure my car was in good running order, changing the oil and tires to help save me money. As an adult he has loved my girls and their kids as if they were blood, spoiling them and making sure they know they are special to him. I know he loves me no matter what and will always be there for me.

My Dad is my Step Dad who stepped up when my real dad didn't. My Dad has been there through all my ups and downs. He has taken us under his wings and claimed us as his children. He is a good support for me as well as a good example of what a step parent should be. He work hard for his family to support us and he has recently retired. This is a man who stepped up to the plate when needed.

Tell us what makes your Dad great:

Not my dad but want to brag a bit about my husband. He goes above and beyond for me and our 4 girls on top of his biological older 4 kids. Is always trying to find new things for the kids. He has medical issues so he is a stay at home step daddy, gets the girls off to the bus and home every day while I work 2 jobs. We live in an RV and he built a new bed in the back for the kids, an addition on to our RV so the kids have their own area to play and more space to move and run around. He strives to make not only me but our children happy and stepped up to be their dad when their father wouldn't. These girls are his whole world he is an amazing dad and deserves all the recognition for being an amazing father in this community.

Well dad is deceased writing for my husband # greatest grandfather ever. He has overcome so many obstacles in his life including a tumor, drugs and alcohol. He is the most giving and loving man I know. He loves my kid as his own and we have a granddaughter and 1 on the way. If it's a boy my son will be naming him after his "papa" as he calls him. Not knowing our family this is a huge deal for my son. We are so proud of the man, husband, papa, grandpa Paul has become.

My dad is special because he has always been there for me thru thick and thin. No matter what. I can always depend on him when I need something he is always there to help me with whatever is needed. He loves his grandchildren dearly no matter how many mistakes or bad choices they make or they've made he will always love them. I thank GOD every day for giving me the wonderful father I have! He has never been negative towards me! Everything that I do he says it's not his business because I am a grown woman and can make my own choices.

My dad was amazing. Before he was deported, we laughed...alot. I remember him taking me to K Mart for Polly Pocket toys and helping pour crema on my tamales. I would do anything to have my Dad back. I am filled with few memories that hold such a special place in my heart. Feliz Dia de Los Padres papa! I miss you.

Tell us what makes your Dad great:

My dad has always been my hero and one to the community as well. He comes from a migrant farm working background and worked hard in his early 20's to change the future for his life. After becoming a reserve in the Marines, he began working as a jail baliff and shortly moving on to becoming a reserve deputy sheriff while he worked full-time at the Sugar Factory. Eventually, he graduated from police academy and became a Grant County Deputy Sheriff for over 20 years. Unfortunately, he had to retire earlier than planned due to a neck injury he sustained on the job. He truly loved helping the community and being a positive role model to others. He was an attentive father who always showed me love with hugs, kisses, and giving of his time. We would often go fishing together, go to Burger King on Saturday mornings, and watch TV as a family. It breaks my heart to know that at his current age of 73, he is battling many health diseases and his quality of life of no longer the same. Winning this BBQ Gift Basket would give him a little something to smile about.

Tell us what makes your Dad great:

My dad is great because he treats me as one of his own children. My step dad has been present in every mile stone of my life and has shown me he is there through thick and thin. His humor is natural and unlike any other; it's able to brighten my mood on even the worst of days. My father makes sure I am doing okay and provides a safe and comfortable place for me to live. Though I am not his blood daughter, I am grateful for the love, honesty, and care I receive from him. He stepped into the role of my step father quickly, yet after less than a year I knew I could call him dad. One thing I am particularly grateful for is his effort in fixing my vehicle. This guy has been working hard on his own business, then comes home to my jeep wrangler which has one problem after another. He works on my jeep himself, despite his busy schedule, to ensure I can make it to school and work. No matter what is going on, my dad takes a pause on what he is doing to prioritize my safety and happiness. He really hits the ball out of the park by having the best personality out there. He loves gummy worms, grilling, road trips, hunting, telling stories and jeeping. I think he is so cool for taking my family camping and off-roading throughout the year. I can trust he will keep me alive even on the craziest and steepest of jeep trails. One of my favorite memories with him is when I drove the jeep up to the lookout trail, blasting 00's rock music. I truly get the best of both worlds from him, care and fun. I am beyond proud to call him a great dad.

Tell us what makes your Dad great:

From the time the sun comes up to the time the sun goes down, my dad is always hard at work. He's either on the phone, responding to emails, running back and forth from jobsite to jobsite, or practicing a speech for the upcoming week. He seems to be always working and I used to hate it. I felt that he never had time for me and that he obviously cared more about work than me but after becoming an adult with a family of mine own, I've come to realize that it is quite the opposite. He did all of this work in order to provide for the family he has and to give them the things they want, even when they are completely unnecessary. So I thank you for that Dad and I Just Want You To Know You're The Greatest Love You!
